

J. Eric Higgins

PARTNER

J. Eric Higgins has practiced family law in Collin County for more than 25 years, litigating highly contentious cases involving both complex property division and child custody issues.

Eric is a zealous advocate for his clients, providing compassionate support and regular communication during what may be some of the most emotionally stressful times of a person's life. Mr. Higgins represents clients involved in legal concerns or problems involving family law, litigating highly contentious cases involving both complex property division and child custody issues with the Texas firm Loughmiller Higgins, Attorneys at Law.

Eric has been practicing law since 1993, when he was admitted to the Texas bar after receiving his law degree from Southern Methodist University Dedman School of Law in Dallas, Texas. He is a member of the State Bar of Texas, Collin County Bar Association, Texas Family Law Foundation and the Curt B. Henderson American Inn of Court. His firm is located in McKinney and serves clients throughout the Dallas/Fort Worth Metroplex.
